DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figures 1-12 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 4-20 been renumbered 7-25.

Claim 4 is objected to because of the following informalities: the word "party" should be spelled "partly." Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Art Unit: 1761

Claims 21-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Applicants added new claims to the application containing the process limitation of providing a cartridge that is in the filled and closed situation of the container at least partially filled with a second gas under pressure, and no basis for this limitation was found or provided.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 7-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is indefinite because it is not clear if the phrase “for instance aluminum, . . . , or other plastic” is meant to be a positive limitation upon the claim. For the purposes of this action, it is considered that it acts as a Markush grouping.

Claim 1 is indefinite because there is no antecedent basis for the phrase “the filled and closed situation.”

Claim 7 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “aromatic component” is unknown.

Claim 8 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “general shape of a beaker” is unknown. Further, there is no antecedent basis for the phrase “the edge zone.”

Claim 9 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “party (sic) undercut peripheral zone” is unknown. Further, there is no antecedent basis for the phrase “which edge zone.”

Art Unit: 1761

Claim 10 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “snap means” is unknown.

Claim 11 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “compressed at least partially” is unknown.

Claim 12 is indefinite because there is no antecedent basis for the phrase “the outside.”

Claim 19 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “” is unknown.

Claim 20 is indefinite because it is not clear if the phrase “for instance a lacquer coat” is meant to be a positive limitation upon the claim

Claim 21 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “substantially insoluble” is unknown.

Claim 23 is indefinite because the scope of the phrase “substantially insoluble” is unknown.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 7-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brilman et al. (WO 96/31409)(“Brilman”).

It is first noted that applicants claim a container (claims 1 and 7-20) that does not positively recite any contents, i.e., such as a liquid. Brilman teaches the production of a beer container that is identical to that claimed. See Figs. 1-12 of both the instant application and Brilman. Also see claims 1-13 of Brilman.

Art Unit: 1761

As to the method claims, page 1 of the patent states that beer is typically placed within a container and then a drop of liquid nitrogen, i.e., a first gas, is placed on top of the beer and the container is then quickly sealed. As the insert and process for filling the container are identical, the process limitations will be met. The second gas in the cartridge will be that which comes out of the liquid, i.e., some dissolved gas will come out of solution and be exchanged with that present in the cartridge.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brilman in view of Dunn (WO 96/33618).

Brilman teaches that cited above but does not teach the use of the container for liquids, such as those of claim 24 or that nitrous oxide is used. Dunn teaches the production of milk shake type beverages that are claimed and further, the use of nitrous oxide. See page 1, lines 10-16 and page 3, lines 5-25. It would have been obvious to those of ordinary skill in the art to place the pressurized beverages of Dunn in the container Brilman as it would provide a foam on its surface when opened.

Art Unit: 1761

Applicants' attention is invited to In re Levin, 84 U.S.P.Q. 232 and the cases cited therein, which are considered in point in the fact situation of the instant case, and wherein the Court stated on page 234 as follows:

This court has taken the position that new recipes or formulas for cooking food which involve the addition or elimination of common ingredients, or for treating them in ways which differ from the former practice, do not amount to invention, merely because it is not disclosed that, in the constantly developing art of preparing food, no one else ever did the particular thing upon which the applicant asserts his right to a patent. In all such cases, there is nothing patentable unless the applicant by a proper showing further establishes a coaction or cooperative relationship between the selected ingredients which produces a new, unexpected, and useful function. In re Benjamin D. White, 17 C.C.P.A. (Patents) 956, 39 F.2d 974, 5 U.S.P.Q. 267; In re Mason et al., 33 C.C.P.A. (Patents) 1144, 156 F.2d 189, 70 U.S.P.Q. 221.
